TRUST UPDATE – FEBRUARY 18, 2020

Ready to Process Button: In January 2014, the Trust modified Trust Online to require that a claimant affirm that their claim was complete and ready to process before the Trust would review or re-review it. The Trust discussed this change in its January 28, 2014; April 30, 2014; September 9, 2014; April 8, 2015; and July 16, 2015 Trust Updates. The Trust is discontinuing this requirement for new claim filings on March 1, 2020. As a result, when a new claim is filed with a completed claim form and documents, the claim will be placed in line for an initial review unless the claim is deferred or is on a hold pending additional research. Additionally, claims in the Not Ready Tank that have never been reviewed will be placed in line for review. If you have such a claim and do not want it reviewed at this time, you should defer the claim if you can before the end of February.
